

DISCLAIMER

All material contained on this Blog is the sole property of the author. Any reproduction or redistribution of this material is prohibited without the expressed written consent of the author. Any reproduction of text, illustrations or photographs appearing in this site is strictly prohibited.

The Author is a noted designated Senior Advocate practising in the Supreme Court of India and this Blog is operated in accordance with the Bar Council of India Rules. For any further information with regard to the author, you are kindly requested to see the contact information, attached with the Blog.

It is further clarified that, the sole purpose of this Blog is to allow the author to air his views and opinions with regard to issues of public importance and nothing contained herein is intended to influence, hurt or incite any individual, group or community.